

FULL PROFESSOR CHAIRED POSITION

IN FAMILY BUSINESS OR ENTREPRENEURSHIP

The Strategy and Business Policy Department at HEC Paris invites applications for a Full Professor, Chaired Position in Family Business or Entrepreneurship. The preferred start date is September 1, 2022, but the position is considered open until filled. Compensation, research funding, and travel support are highly competitive, and similar to those at leading business schools in North America and Western Europe.

We are seeking candidates with a Ph.D. degree and an outstanding, world-class research track record in terms of publications in top journals and strong research orientation in the abovementioned areas. The ideal applicant should demonstrate teaching excellence in graduate and undergraduate programs, untenured faculty and Ph.D. student mentoring experience, and leadership skills to work with external stakeholders, such as partner institutions and the scholarly community at large.

Please email all application materials to the Recruiting Committee at strategy-application@hec.fr:

- A brief cover letter describing the interest in the position and relevant qualifications
- A curriculum vitae
- The names, email addresses, and phone numbers for three references

Mission and Values

The mission of HEC Paris is twofold: (1) to educate the global business leaders of tomorrow and (2) to excel at the production of knowledge in management science. What makes HEC Paris unique is its ambition to empower individuals through knowledge – its vision of education as an endogenous growth mechanism and a driver of social welfare through entrepreneurship and the creation of economic value. The school’s motto reflects this mission: “The more you know, the more you dare”. The school enacts its mission through a cutting-edge research environment, continuous pedagogical innovation, and close connections to the corporate world and its alumni network. HEC Paris is a non-discriminatory and equal opportunity employer and values diversity and pluralism, equity, inclusion, integrity and ethics, and collaborative work.

Department Overview

The Strategy and Business Policy Department is composed of 18 Tenure Track Faculty, 11 Education Track Faculty, 2 Affiliate Professors and 1 Senior Research Fellow across our two campuses, in France and Qatar (faculty directory). Our faculty rank mix is well-balanced between junior, mid-level, and senior professors; gender parity is a primary goal. Department professors have diverse backgrounds; tenure-track faculty have disciplinary doctoral training in sociology, organization theory, applied and experimental economics, data analytics and computational social science from leading universities worldwide. Research interests are eclectic, including broad micro and macro areas such as:

- Creativity and learning; reputation, status, and fame; cognition and decision making; human capital, employee mobility, and incentives theory; institutional logic; language and coordination.
- Organizational structure and design, social networks, and social capital; organizational learning and group decision-making processes; strategy implementation.
- Competitive strategy, strategy dynamics, and sustainable competitive advantage; firm innovation and technology development, multi-sided markets; business models.
- Corporate strategy and international business; firm partnerships and mergers and acquisitions, value-based strategy; private equity investment; corporate governance.
- Non-market strategy; corporate political activity; corporate scandals and misconduct; public-private policy; sustainability and CSR; (social) entrepreneurship and inequity; global warming.
- The formal foundations of strategy, the economics of strategy and organization; data analytics, digitization, digital strategy, and transformation.

The department research productivity from 2018 to 2020 – the last three years of data before the full effects of the Covid19 pandemic were experienced – was of a total of 23 A-journal publications, with 21 total publications in the five main Strategy A-journals – Strategic Management Journal, Academy of Management Journal, Academy of Management Review, Administrative Science Quarterly, and Organization Science. This publication productivity is at par with the top 5 Management departments in the United States in terms of Strategy A-journal publications per faculty (and with the top 10 US Management departments in absolute number of Strategy A-journal publications), as listed in the TAMUGA Rankings. Besides the five main Strategy journals, our department has also published in Nature, Management Science, the American Journal of Sociology, the Journal of Banking and Finance, and Research Policy. Currently, the department has 16 doctoral students (PhD student directory).

The department designs and runs multiple programs across the school, including the MSc in Strategic Management, the MBA Strategy Specialization, the MBA Entrepreneurship Specialization, the PhD Strategy Specialization and the EMBA and TRIUM EMBA Strategy area curriculum.
