

MBA EMPLOYMENT REPORT

2021

Throughout the MBA journey, career advisors guide participants to help them achieve their career goals, whether they're seeking a transformation to a new sector, function and/or industry, or want to step out as a budding entrepreneur.

2021 TRENDS & STATISTICS

2021 was the year of a clear rebound for the job market. Even if the world economy has kept facing the negative impact of the global COVID pandemic, our 2021 graduates have shown great strength and seized opportunities aligned with their diverse career goals. 93 percent of the class of 2021 accepted job offers within three months of graduation. They joined the ranks of our prestigious alumni network, made up of more than 68,000 professionals from 152 countries across the world.

The Class of 2021*, made up of 50 nationalities (94 percent international), graduated with a global mindset, ready to succeed in today's uncertain world. 69 percent of our graduates secured positions outside their home countries, 79 percent switched sectors and 62 percent changed location. A total of 41 percent changed two of the three elements, while 40 percent made the MBA 'triple jump' and changed all three. We saw an increase in the number of graduates accepting jobs in Europe and North America, as well as a rise in positions in the Technology sector, demonstrating an even more diverse pool of unique employers. These changes confirm that our program attracts future leaders driven by purpose, who understand that their obligations go beyond the bottom line and who want to contribute to society's greater good.

* The HEC Paris MBA Class is defined according to the MBA CSEA guidelines.

Our MBAs were invited to explore sectors at the beginning of their HEC Paris journey so that they could effectively design the next steps of their professional life. Some pursued the exact path they had in mind prior to embarking on the journey, while others discovered the path through an internship, thereby landing a dream opportunity in a (completely) different sector to the one they had in mind at the start.

The program has prepared them to be effective decision makers in an ever-changing global business landscape. They have acquired the competencies in high demand by worldwide employers, including agility, decisive leadership, and the ability to manage rare events that have disruptive consequences.

HEC Talent, our Career Center team, has gone the extra mile to support students during these unpre-cedented times. The team provided more career-development workshops than ever before, increasing by 19 percent the number of workshops and sessions compared to the previous year, with an average rating of 4.7 out of 5. We implemented new interactive tools and offered students maximum flexibility with the optimal combination of online/physical/hybrid formats.

The HEC Paris MBA continues to be ranked one of the top MBAs in the world. The program is currently #11 Global MBA in the Financial Times, #2 Full Time MBA in The Economist, and #4 Global MBA in QS.

I would like to take this opportunity to acknowledge the tremendous support of our loyal alumni and the relentless engagement of our recruiters that connected this class of 281 students to companies interested in meeting MBA talent (virtually or in person) for recruiting purposes, and the almost 50 different companies that met with students during our career treks. If you are a prospective student, the HEC Talent team will always be by your side, offering guidance and support during your MBA journey. The team is dedicated to sharing their expertise about how to know yourself better, determine the various paths available to you, and how to connect with the right practitioners and hiring managers along the way. We look forward to supporting your career endeavors regardless of your background or social capital because we are convinced that diversity, equity, and inclusion are our best assets to support future generations of global leaders.

PLACEMENT BY SECTOR

HIRING COMPANIES INCLUDED

“I pursued an MBA at HEC because I wanted to become a true global citizen, while also refocusing my career on the marketing function. I grew both personally and professionally during my time at HEC by having the opportunity to make friends from all corners of the world, learn a new language, and intern on the Digital team for a multinational conglomerate. After graduating, I leveraged my international experience to accept a role at Nike on the worldwide Marketing team.”

“I started the MBA with a clear career goal that HEC Paris massively helped me realise. One of the most valuable elements was the program’s strong focus on building and nurturing a lifelong professional network. This was very evident throughout the MBA program, with its curriculum built around behavioral classes, its very active student clubs, and lots of opportunities to meet and interact with global leaders. In addition, HEC’s alumni are an incredible resource for mentorship and career guidance.”

“The most valuable part of any MBA is the journey to ‘know yourself.’ It enables you to transform your career based on your vision, broaden your viewpoint by engaging with your peers, and reject tempting but unsuitable choices. What I explored during the HEC Paris MBA—all those projects, certificates and courses—taught me to be able to self-guide and move forward strategically. Once the HEC Paris MBA mindset starts, it will never end.”

“The HEC MBA gave me everything I had hoped for. I wanted the opportunity to work abroad, and I wanted to transition away from my career in biology and academia. The MBA coursework, a summer internship with a French wound care company, the learning and networking opportunities from the MBA clubs, and the HEC alumni network together allowed me to successfully change my geography, sector, and function.”

Katherine Silkaitis,
Associate Consultant,
McKinsey and Company,
Doha, Qatar

“HEC Paris was my first choice among business schools because it is extremely international and diverse, with a close-knit community of students. Its MBA program provided me with the soft and hard skills necessary to make a ‘triple jump,’ which was my goal from the first time I saw the HEC Paris MBA’s brochure at an admission event.”
